GEN. PERSHING SENDS MESSAGE TO TROOPS

Calls Upon Men in Northern Russia to Maintain Their Morale—Appreciates Hardships They Are Up Against

Archangel, Thursday, April 17 (By the Associated Press).—Brigadier General William S. Richardson, U. S. A., arrived at Archangel to-day with his staff on board the first big ice-breaker which has made its way into the regular Arctic docks since the beginning of winter.

One of the first acts of General Richardson, who comes to take command of the American forces in north Russia, was to make public to the American forces a telegram from General Pershing calling upon them to maintain their morale.

General Pershing's message was as follows: "Inform our troops that all America resounds with the praise of the splendid record the American expeditionary forces have made. The reputation of the American soldier for valor and his splendid discipline under the most trying circumstances have endeared every member of the expeditionary forces not only to his friends and relatives but to all Americans."

"Their comrades in France have not forgotten that the Americans in north Russia are part of the expeditionary forces and we are proud to transmit to you the generous praise of the American people. I hope that every soldier in north Russia will join his comrades here in the high resolve of returning to America with unblemished reputations."

"I wish every soldier in northern Russia to know that I fully appreciate that his hardships have continued long after those endured by our soldiers in France and that every effort is being made to relieve conditions in the north at the earliest possible moment."

General Richardson plans to make a trip to the front as soon as possible.

26TH DIVISION ASSOCIATION

To Be Formed to Keep Men in Touch with Each Other

Ayer, Mass., April 19.—General March, chief of staff of the army, is the guest of Major General H. P. McCain, commander of Camp Devens to-day. He announced a review of the 101st infantry regiment of the 26th division this morning.

Major General Harry C. Hale announced that a review of the entire division would be tendered General March in the afternoon if he cared to accept, and if sufficient men could be mustered to make a showing. Thousands of men have been given leave for the week end. The camp was open to visitors to-day and as it is a holiday large crowds are looked for.

The 26th division association, to keep the men of that organization permanently in touch with each other, will be formed here in the near future. It is announced that Colonel John T. Herbert of Worcester will be chairman of the meeting.

CAPTURED WAR MATERIAL

Is the Property of the Government and Not the Individual

Washington, April 18.—All war material captured from the enemy is the property of the United States government and not of the individual soldier or the organization making the capture, the war department has held in reply to hundreds of inquiries from states, counties and municipalities as to the disposition of war trophies.

Until Congress has authorized such action, it was said officially yesterday, the department has no authority to distribute any of this material either temporarily or permanently. Steps have been taken, however, to insure the proper collection and listing of captured war material in order "to make distributions in such manner as hereafter Congress may prescribe."

PHILIPPINES DEMAND RIGHT

Of Self-Determination Under Policy Adopted by the United States

FITNESS TO GOVERN IS ALSO URGED

Manuel L. Quezon, President of the Philippine Senate, Makes Statement

New York, April 19.—Immediate independence for the Philippines on the double ground of the islands' fitness for self-government and their right to this status under the United States war policy guaranteeing the liberties of small nations, was urged by Manuel L. Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate and chairman of the territory's mission to this country.

How could America give its recognition, even its assistance and co-operation, to the independence of Czechoslovakia, Poland and other submerged nationalities, the senator asked, and withhold it from the Philippines? He called attention to his country's six years of self-rule, pronounced successful by supervising American officials, comparing it with the total lack of experience of some of the liberated republics.

Mr. Quezon urged the Philippines' "enthusiastic approval" of the league of nations, not only because of the need of an international agency to curb militarism and protect peace-loving peoples, but because of his country's experience under some of its features. He described as a "proud precedent" for the mandatory idea contained in the league covenant, the "unprecedented progress" of the Philippines under American suzerainty, an administration "free from exploitation."

"This magnanimous treatment," he continued, "has made America what it is to-day in the eyes of the weak and struggling peoples—the champion of their rights, the redeemer of their bondage."

He saw no way open to the United States, consistent with her internationally advocated principles, but to crown with a Philippine republic "the wonderful work" accomplished in the islands.

When America assumed trusteeship of the Philippines, "for humanity and civilization," Senator Quezon said, establishment of a stable government was made a prerequisite to independence. This state had been accomplished, he said, in an archipelago governed in practice wholly by native officials. He cited development of the educational system, by which within six years every child of school age would be given an opportunity to study in classrooms where English is the legal language the expansion of foreign and domestic commerce and the increase in wealth. He mentioned also the islands' loyal support of the United States in the war, which he declared was inspired by the same motive—belief in the principle of self-determination—that had led Filipinos after the defeat of Spain to "wage an unequal war rather than submit unconditionally to American sovereignty."

With the Filipino people ready for independence, the senator said the commission which he headed had been sent to America in confidence that it would be able to win for the country "a share of the fruits of democracy's victory."

Danger Ahead! Look Out!!

Colds and grippe frequently will leave you with weak kidneys, and aching back. The kidneys get overworked fighting off a cold or a contagious disease. When they slow up, and don't perform their duties, look out, there is trouble brewing.

Kidney and bladder troubles are dangerous, and should not be neglected; if you are compelled to arise from your slumber once or twice during the night, it proves that your kidneys are affected and bladder irritated, and if you will take from 10 to 20 drops of SEVEN BARKS in a little water after meals, you will correct the alkalinity of your secretions, thus giving you undisturbed sleep and peaceful rest, preparing you for your next day's duties.

If you feel dull, irritable and nervous, have headaches, sore or enlarged joints, irregular kidney action, you should give the kidneys quick relief by taking SEVEN BARKS, which will not only relieve the kidney trouble, but keep your stomach in good condition and your liver active. Don't neglect your kidney trouble with first symptoms. You will be sorry if you do—it's too serious a matter. Get SEVEN BARKS of your druggist. Price, 50 cents.—Adv.

SALONIKI PEOPLE CURIOUS MIXTURE

The City Is Literally a Melting-Pot of Humanity—The Market Place Is a Babel of Tongues.

Saloniki, April 18 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The American visitor finds here an extraordinary mixture of races, tongues, beliefs and customs. Saloniki is literally a melting-pot of humanity. No other city in the world, unless it be one of the great American centers, is so thoroughly cosmopolitan. Greeks, Mongols, Turks, Slavs, Teutons, Italians and Europeans mingle and each understands the language of the other. The market place is a babel of tongues. The lowliest street peddler speaks at least four languages.

But these diverse races associate together only for business purposes. In their religious beliefs, aspirations and sentiments a great gulf separates them. Each has a different ideal and a distinct viewpoint of life. In Macedonia all religions are tolerated. Saloniki, or Thessalonica, as it was called in early times, is said to have been the door by which Christianity entered Europe. Indeed, devout residents relate with pride that it was here the Apostle Paul, after having evangelized Syria and Asia Minor, came to preach the gospel to the unbelievers of Macedonia.

The money changer has been a fixture in Saloniki from time immemorial. During the war he reaped a rich harvest on the fluctuating value of the currency of the war-affected countries. The American dollar was the only currency that he could not buy at a profit. It resisted all the vicissitudes and varying fortunes of the war and held steadily at 100 cents when all the other money of the world was fluctuating.

Saloniki is essentially a Jewish city, for there are more than 100,000 Jews who make their homes here. They control the bulk of the business. About 80 per cent of them are Spanish-Hebrews whose ancestors were driven from Spain by Ferdinand and Isabella in the 15th century. To indicate the wide diversity of other races, however, it is sufficient only to say that there are five Greek newspapers, seven Spanish-Hebrew, four French, three Serbian, one Turkish and one English. The lone English newspaper is published by the British army for the use of its men in the Levant.

If the Apostle Paul could come to Saloniki to-day, he probably would preach to the Thessalonians a gospel of cleanliness as well as of piety, for dirt seems to be an inseparable part of the city and of the people. Hygienic and sanitary methods, as the allied military authorities soon learned, are woefully primitive. During the allied occupation thousands of British, French, Italian and Serbian soldiers succumbed to malaria, typhoid and other diseases arising from lack of drainage and sanitation. Through all the centuries plagues and epidemics have visited the city and carried off thousands of its inhabitants. Being on the principal thoroughfare from Asia into Europe, Saloniki has been the means of spreading Asiatic cholera to the towns washed by the Mediterranean. The city itself has suffered great losses of life through this great scourge.

COTTAGES RANSACKED

Damage Done in Bellows Falls Amounts to Hundreds of Dollars

Bellows Falls, April 19.—Owners of cottages on the Connecticut river north of this village have discovered that boys have been entering the buildings during the winter and spring. Hardly a cottage has escaped and several have been entered more than once. A gang of boys has been working with more or less system and damage amounting to hundreds of dollars is the result. Windows and doors have been smashed in and furnishings stolen and destroyed. Three boys, from 12 to 16 years old, were caught last Sunday and Thursday but their cases were continued until next month. Seven of the cottages near this village are owned by Francis Provost, J. C. Rennesey, E. A. Pierce, C. A. Walker, E. W. Kelley, A. L. Bolles, and the cottage called "The Studio." All have suffered. It is also reported that cottages further up the river have been broken into.

It is difficult to estimate the extent of the damage without a complete inventory, but it is thought it will amount to several hundred dollars.
